Solid Wood

A quality term and arguably the purest material a carpenter can work with. Solid wood, a renewable resource, can refer to softwood or hardwood. The consistently unique grain of the wood and its natural play of colors radiate a special aesthetic. This expressiveness is fascinating. Advantages of solid wood include stability and robustness, sufficient elastic behavior, good workability, and countless design possibilities. We insist that all wood types we work with are ecologically responsibly sourced and intentionally used. High quality that you can feel. Longevity that manifests in aesthetics.
